Membership in the American Artists Professional League

The American Artists Professional League, Inc. was organized in 1928 to help the artists of the country solve their professional problems. It has a long record of constructive help, such as setting standards of quality for pigments and promoting competent understandable art.

Categories of membership in the AAPL are as follows: Elected Artist Member, Fellow, Associate Member, Patron, Sponsor and Benefactor.

Elected Artist Members are those who have been approved by the Membership Committee of the National Board of Directors.

Fellows are our top-ranking active members. After becoming an elected Artist Member and then being accepted in our Grand National Exhibition for three years, not necessarily consecutively, an elected Artist Member automatically becomes a Fellow.

Associate Members are those individuals, not necessarily artists, who wish to support traditional realism in art by joining the League.

Patrons, Sponsors and Benefactors are those who consider our high objectives worthy of backing and would like to make a donation to our efforts through the American Artists Fund, the charitable, educational adjunct of the AAPL. Coherent fine art urgently needs the solid support of American art patrons.

Contribution levels for Patrons, Sponsors and Benefactors are based upon the amount of the donation to the League ($25, $50, $100 or more respectively) and are fully tax deductible. Make all checks payable to the American Artists Fund and mail c/o the American Artists Professional League, Inc., 47 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10003.

American Artists Professional League, Inc. Application as an elected artist member, please fill out the form below and mail with check for $40.00 (Annual Dues); three 35mm slides and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CREATED IN 1928 BY DEDICATED ARTISTS OF STATURE FOR THE PROTECTION OF ARTISTS' INTERESTS, AND TRADITIONAL REALISM IN AMERICAN ART.

THE AMERICAN ARTISTS PROFESSIONAL LEAGUE

In January 1928, F. Ballard Williams, Assistant Treasurer of the National Academy of Design in New York, called a meeting of fifteen members of the Salmagundi Club. The purpose: to discuss the need for a national organization to meet the increasing interests in traditional realism in American art. Most attending were prominent academicians of their day. The attendees all agreed that an organization designed to protect artists' interests and promote traditional American art was necessary and The American Artists Professional League (AAPL) was born.

The AAPL first focused on the issue of obtaining commissions of official portraits for American Artists. By using its national stature, the AAPL influenced a rider to a Congressional Bill stipulating that all official portraits paid for with taxpayers' dollars were to be painted by American artists, a fact that remains in effect to this day.

Another milestone for the organization was the improvement of the chemical and physical purity of artists' pigments. By securing a fund from the Carnegie Corporation Endowment Fund, a program of color pigment research was established for the AAPL. It was completed in 1932, making the AAPL the country's leading authority on artists' pigments at that time. The AAPL was also instrumental in establishing and securing the U.S. Bureau of Standards original set of government-sponsored standards for artists' colors, updated in 1962.

In its ongoing effort to promote and encourage artists specializing in realistic art forms, the AAPL has staged a Grand National Exhibition for over 70 years. Each year, hundreds of applicants from all 50 states in all media submit their work for review by a selection committee consisting of professional artists in the fields of oil, watermedia, pastel and graphics and sculpture.

By Board resolution in 1958, the AAPL created the American Artists Fund, an arm of the organization specifically designed for educational and charitable purposes. Through private and corporate donations and contributions to the Fund, the AAPL sponsors its Grand National Exhibition and awards scholarships to college level students studying American art. This year, the AAPL will award over $11,000 in prizes to exhibitors and has marked $1,000 for college scholarships.

The AAPL, with approximately 1,000 members nationwide, is headquartered at the Salmagundi Club, 47 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10003, Telephone/Fax (212) 645-1345; e-mail: aapl@verizon.net. Visit our website at: <http://www.americanartistsprofessionalleague.org>.
